

South Island Wood Energy Events

Wood energy training course and workshops during September and October 2015, Christchurch and Otago

A month of events show-casing the successful and increasing use of wood energy for the production of heat.

The Bioenergy Association is holding a number of events in Christchurch and Otago to show those interested in the use of wood fuel for the production of heat from modern heat plant equipment; how wood fuel is being reliably and consistently delivered by Accredited Wood Fuel Suppliers; and the opportunity to talk with heat plant owners about why they are pleased to be using wood fuel.

29 th Sept Christchurch	Showcasing larger scale wood fueled heat plant in Christchurch
6 th October Christchurch	Short course "Contracting for the sale and purchase of wood fuel"
7 th October Christchurch	Short course "Safe operation of small scale heat plant"
8 th October Dunedin	Short course "Safe operation of small scale heat plant"
28 th October Otago	Showcasing medium scale wood fueled heat plant in Otago

This series of events is for heat plant owners and operators, purchasers of wood fuel, wood energy advisers and potential investors in heat plant who are evaluating the opportunities for new heat plant. In Christchurch the focus is on large scale heat plant while in Otago the focus will be on smaller scale heat plant suitable for schools, rest-homes and accommodation facilities.

The focus of this month will be to:

- Show-case successful wood fueled heat plant
- Update the market on the increasing number of wood fueled heat plant being installed.
- Allow those interested in heat plant to visit and touch actual operating plant
- Provide the latest information on the Bioenergy Association Wood Energy Quality Framework.
- Provide opportunities for heat plant owners, investors, wood fuel suppliers and equipment suppliers to share ideas
